Legislative Council Panel on Constitutional Affairs

The second review of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region by the Working Group on the Universal Periodic Review of the United Nations Human Rights Council

Purpose

This paper sets out the outcome of the second review of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region (HKSAR) by the Working Group on the Universal Periodic Review (UPR) of the United Nations (UN) Human Rights Council (HRC)¹ which took place in Geneva on 22 and 25 October 2013.

The HKSAR's second report under the UPR mechanism

2. Based on the requirement under the UPR mechanism², China has submitted a 20-page national report to the UNHRC, which included a 3-page section contributed by the HKSAR Government (at Annex A).

3. The UNHRC published the HKSAR report at its website in September 2013. Copies of the HKSAR report have since been distributed to the Executive Council, Legislative Council (LegCo), District Councils and concerned NGOs.

¹ The Working Group on the UPR, established in accordance with HRC resolution 5/1 of 18 June 2007, held its 17th session from 21 October to 1 November 2013 to consider the human rights condition in Saudi Arabia, Senegal, China, Nigeria, Mexico, Mauritius, Jordan, Malaysia, Central African Republic, Monaco, Belize, Chad, Israel, Congo and Malta. The review of China was held on 22 October 2013. The Working Group adopted the review report on China on 25 October 2013.

² Under the UPR mechanism, Member States of the UNHRC are required to participate in the periodic review of its working group by submitting a national report describing its human rights condition, taking part in an interactive dialogue at the working group's review session, and in discussing the review result of the working group at the plenary session of the UNHRC. The periodicity of the UPR is 4.5 years. The first review on China under the UPR mechanism was held in February 2009.

The review on the HKSAR by the UNHRC Working Group on UPR

4. The review on China's human rights condition was conducted by the UNHRC Working Group on UPR on 22 October 2013. Officials from relevant bureaux and departments of the HKSAR Government, led by the Under Secretary for Constitutional and Mainland Affairs, attended the review as part of the Chinese delegation.

5. In the opening remarks made by the head of Chinese delegation, Special Envoy of Ministry of Foreign Affairs of China Mr WU Hai-long, it was mentioned that the HKSAR had implemented Statutory Minimum Wage in 2011 and amended the Personal Data (Privacy) Ordinance in 2012, that the methods of selecting the Chief Executive in 2017 and forming of the LegCo in 2016 should be strictly in accordance with the Basic Law and relevant interpretations and decisions of the Standing Committee of the National People's Congress, and that the HKSAR would continue to enhance the protection of the rights of persons with disabilities, women and children, and provide support to individual groups such as people with ethnic minority background or different sexual orientation. Mr WU's opening remarks concerning the HKSAR are at Annex B.

6. In the interactive dialogue session of the review, there was only one question about the HKSAR raised by the Republic of Poland, about press freedom. In response, the HKSAR delegation explained that freedom of speech and freedom of the press were enshrined in the Basic Law and the Hong Kong Bill of Rights; and that the HKSAR Government would continue to promote and preserve human rights and freedoms in the HKSAR in accordance with the Basic Law and relevant local legislation.

7. The HKSAR delegation also took the opportunity to respond to a written question submitted by the Republic of the Union of Myanmar before the review meeting about the political participation and employment rights of persons with disabilities. The delegation explained that all permanent residents, including persons with disabilities, enjoyed the same right to vote and stand for election in accordance with the law; that the HKSAR Government provided a wide range of employment support and vocational training services for persons with disabilities; and that legislative measures against disability discrimination in employment and at the workplace had been put in place.

The adoption of review report by the UNHRC Working Group on UPR

8. On 25 October 2013, the UNHRC Working Group on UPR adopted its review report on China (Annex C³). None of the recommendations in the report is specifically on the HKSAR. The UNHRC will further discuss and adopt the Working Group's review report at its plenary meeting to be held in March 2014.

9. Members are invited to note the content of this paper.

The final version of the document will be published at the UNHRC's website (<http://www.ohchr.org/EN/HRBodies/UPR/Pages/CNSession17.aspx>) in UN's six official languages, including Chinese, in due course.

Report of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region for the United Nations Human Rights Council
Universal Periodic Review

Methodology and consultation

In preparing this part of the report, the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region (HKSAR) Government conducted an exercise in February and March 2013 to consult the public. A consultation document published by the HKSAR Government was sent to a broad spectrum of the community, including the Legislative Council (LegCo), relevant non-governmental organisations (NGOs), interested members of the public and the media, and distributed through the District Offices and on the internet. During the consultation period, the HKSAR Government also collected views from representatives of NGOs at the LegCo and the Human Rights Forum. The HKSAR Government has carefully considered all the comments received.

Framework and measures for promotion and protection of human rights

2. As stated in the previous report, in the HKSAR, human rights are fully protected by law. The legal safeguards are provided in the Basic Law of the HKSAR of the People's Republic of China, the Hong Kong Bill of Rights Ordinance and other relevant ordinances. They are buttressed by the rule of law and an independent judiciary. In addition, there are a number of organisations which help promote and safeguard different rights, including the Equal Opportunities Commission, the Privacy Commissioner for Personal Data (PCPD), the Ombudsman, the Independent Police Complaints Council (IPCC), and the legal aid services. The HKSAR Government's performance in promoting and safeguarding human rights is open to scrutiny through periodic reports to the United Nations (UN) human rights treaty monitoring bodies and is constantly watched over by the LegCo, the media, various human rights NGOs and the community at large. Since the last review, the HKSAR Government continued to attach great importance to promoting human rights through public education and publicity.

Achievements and challenges

3. The Basic Law provides that the ultimate aim is the election of the Chief Executive (CE) and all Members of the LegCo by universal suffrage in light of the actual situation in the HKSAR and in accordance with the principle of gradual and orderly progress. According to the decision adopted by the Standing Committee of the National People's Congress (NPCSC) in December 2007, the election of the CE may be implemented by universal suffrage in 2017, and after the CE is elected by universal suffrage, the election of the LegCo of the HKSAR may be implemented by the method of electing all the members by universal suffrage.

4. In the summer of 2010, the reform package put forth by the HKSAR Government for the elections of the CE and LegCo in 2012 was passed by a two-thirds majority of all the members of the LegCo, given consent by the CE and endorsed by the NPCSC. For the first time since its establishment in 1997, the HKSAR has completed the constitutional procedures required to amend the electoral methods for the CE and the LegCo. The two elections were held successfully in March and September 2012 respectively.

5. The HKSAR Government is fully committed to attaining universal suffrage for both the CE and the LegCo elections in accordance with the Basic Law and the decision of the NPCSC of December 2007. With the experience gained in the 2010 exercise, the HKSAR Government will, at an appropriate juncture, launch public consultations on the election methods for the LegCo election in 2016 and the CE election in 2017, and initiate the required constitutional procedures accordingly.

6. In May this year, the LegCo passed a bill to abolish all appointed seats of the District Councils (DCs) from the next term of the DCs, which will commence in 2016.

7. Another major development since the previous review is the much enhanced screening mechanism for torture claims introduced by the HKSAR Government in December 2009. The mechanism has been underpinned by statute since December 2012. Under the mechanism, claimants are given every reasonable opportunity to establish their claims. Aggrieved claimants may appeal to a statutory Torture Claims Appeal Board comprising former judges or magistrates. A claimant may not be removed from the HKSAR to another country where there are substantial grounds for believing that the claimant would be in danger of being subjected to torture there.

8. On the protection of privacy, in 2012 the Personal Data (Privacy) Ordinance was amended to strengthen the protection of personal data privacy. The amendments include enhancing regulation over the use of personal data in direct marketing and provision of personal data to others for use in direct marketing.

9. The HKSAR Government continues to respect the freedom and rights of peaceful assembly and procession, as enshrined in the Basic Law and the Hong Kong Bill of Rights Ordinance. The Police have been facilitating all lawful and peaceful public meetings and processions while ensuring public order and public safety.

10. To enhance the mechanism for handling of complaints against the Police, the IPCC Ordinance came into force in June 2009, to provide the IPCC an independent statutory status vested with statutory functions and powers to observe, monitor and review the handling and investigation of reportable complaints by the Police. The Ordinance imposes a statutory duty on the Police to comply with the IPCC's requirements, further enhancing the IPCC's independence in dealing with complaints against the Police.

11. Freedom of expression and press freedom are fundamental rights enjoyed by people in the HKSAR. As always, the media reports freely, commenting extensively and liberally on local and external matters. Applications for licences for broadcasting are considered by an independent regulator fairly and in strict accordance with the law and established procedures.

12. To tackle the issue of poverty, the HKSAR Government set up a high level Commission on Poverty in December 2012 to review the effectiveness of existing poverty alleviation policies, formulate new policies to prevent and alleviate poverty and social exclusion, as well as promote upward social mobility.

13. On labour rights, the HKSAR Government completed a policy study on standard working hours (SWH) and released the study report in November 2012. In April 2013, the CE appointed representatives of various sectors to the SWH Committee, with a view to building consensus and identifying the way forward.

14. In the HKSAR, workers' rights to form and join trade unions are guaranteed by the Basic Law and the Hong Kong Bill of Rights. Members and officers of a registered trade union enjoy a number of rights and immunities under the Trade Unions Ordinance. The Employment Ordinance provides employees with protection against anti-union discrimination. The HKSAR Government is studying the details regarding a proposal about reinstatement or re-engagement of an employee who has been unreasonably and unlawfully dismissed.

15. There has been substantial improvement in the earnings of grassroots employees after the Statutory Minimum Wage (SMW) was introduced in 2011. The SMW rate has increased by HK$2 to HK$30 an hour with effect from 1 May this year. The SMW rate is reviewed at least once in every two years.

16. The Race Discrimination Ordinance came into full operation in July 2009. To promote racial equality and ensure ethnic minorities' (EMs') access to key public services, the HKSAR Government will extend the application of administrative guidelines to 21 bureaux, departments and public authorities later this year.

17. Since the last review, the HKSAR Government has strengthened support services to facilitate EMs' integration into the community. The enhancement measures include increasing the number of support service centres to provide EMs with different kinds of trainings and activities. In 2013, the CE has also announced further measures to enhance the support for non-Chinese speaking (NCS) students¹ in learning the Chinese Language, including, amongst others, parents' participation in summer bridging programmes to facilitate students' early adaptation to the local education system, enhancing the professional competencies of teachers, etc. The HKSAR Government will make further endeavours taking into consideration stakeholders' views.

18. Since the last review, the HKSAR Government has fulfilled and will continue to fulfill, its obligations under the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities, the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women, and the Convention on the Rights of the Child.

19. As in many parts of the world, sexual orientation is a controversial subject in the HKSAR. This notwithstanding, the HKSAR Government's position is clear – no person should be discriminated against on any grounds, including sexual orientation. The HKSAR Government has been undertaking extensive publicity and promotion with a view to fostering in the community a culture of mutual understanding, tolerance and respect. More resources will be injected into this area.

20. During the last review, the HKSAR was recommended to “continue to function according to their realities and preserve different rights of their citizens in accordance with their laws”. The HKSAR Government has made continuous efforts in protection of human rights in the light of actual situation. The HKSAR Government will not underestimate the difficulty and challenges in building up consensus on various controversial issues, such as constitutional development and the protection of rights of sexual minorities, in the coming years. The HKSAR Government will protect and promote the rights of different groups through legal and administrative means, and in close collaboration with different sectors.

United Nations Human Rights Council Universal Periodic Review
(Second Cycle)

Opening remarks*
(Part concerning the HKSAR)

Since the last review, human rights in the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region (HKSAR) continue to be fully protected by the Basic Law, the Hong Kong Bill of Rights Ordinance and other local legislation.

2. Progress made in terms of legislation includes amending the Personal Data (Privacy) Ordinance in 2012, and the full implementation of the Race Discrimination Ordinance and the Independent Police Complaints Council Ordinance in 2009.

3. In addition, relevant law was enacted by the HKSAR Government in 2012 to substantially enhance the screening and appeal mechanism for torture claims. The HKSAR Government has also been providing government funded legal aid services to torture claimants throughout their different stages of appeal.

4. In terms of people's livelihood, the HKSAR implemented the Statutory Minimum Wage in 2011. Earlier this year, a Standard Working Hours Committee was also formed. The Commission on Poverty, re-established in end 2012, also announced information concerning the first setting of a poverty line and analysis on the poverty situation in Hong Kong at the Poverty Summit held last month. Such information would provide a scientific policy tool to assist the Administration in quantifying the poverty problem, enhancing the policy formulation process and reviewing the effectiveness of the poverty alleviation measures.

5. In terms of constitutional development, the HKSAR completed the Chief Executive and Legislative Council elections smoothly in 2012. It will implement the work in relation to the 2016 Legislative Council and 2017 Chief Executive elections in strict accordance with the Basic Law and the relevant explanation and decision made by the Standing Committee of the National People's Congress.

* Provided by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of China.

6. Since the last review, the HKSAR continues to enhance the protection of the rights of the disabled, women and children, and provide support to individual groups such as people with ethnic minority background or different sexual orientation. The HKSAR will sustain its effort in enhancing protection of human rights, and ensure that the measures to be implemented could suit the practical need of the region.

Introduction

1. The Working Group on the Universal Periodic Review (UPR), established in accordance with Human Rights Council resolution 5/1 of 18 June 2007, held its seventeenth session from 21 October to 1 November 2013. The review of China was held at the 3rd meeting on 22 October 2013. The delegation of China was headed by His Excellency Mr. Wu Hailong. At its 10th meeting held on 25 October 2013, the Working Group adopted the report on China
2. On 14 January 2013, the Human Rights Council selected the following group of rapporteurs (troika) to facilitate the review of China: Poland, Sierra Leone, United Arab Emirates.
3. In accordance with paragraph 15 of the annex to resolution 5/1 and paragraph 5 of the annex to resolution 16/21, the following documents were issued for the review of China:
 - (a) A national report submitted/written presentation made in accordance with paragraph 15 (a) (A/HRC/WG.6/17/CHN/1);
 - (b) A compilation prepared by OHCHR in accordance with paragraph 15 (b) (A/HRC/WG.6/17/CHN/2);
 - (c) A summary prepared by OHCHR in accordance with paragraph 15 (c) (A/HRC/WG.6/17/CHN/3 and Corr.1).
4. A list of questions prepared in advance by Australia, Bangladesh, Belgium, Canada, Cuba, Czech Republic, Germany, Myanmar, the Netherlands, Norway, Slovenia, Spain, Sri Lanka, Sweden, the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, United States of America was transmitted to China through the troika. These questions are available on the extranet of the UPR.

I. Summary of the proceedings of the review process

A. Presentation by the State under review

5. The delegation of China indicated that it established an inter-agency task force composed of nearly 30 national legislative, administrative and judiciary departments to prepare the report and held consultations with more than 20 representative NGOs and academic institutions, and solicited public opinion through website.
6. The recommendations accepted four years ago either have been implemented or are being carried out. Fully respecting and protecting human rights was identified as one of the goals in the building of a moderately prosperous society in all respects.
7. China formulated and published the National Human Rights Action Plan of China (2012-2015) in June 2012.
8. From 2008 to 2012, rural and urban income increased by 9.9 percent and 8.8 percent annually. China implemented the Outline of Development-Oriented Poverty Reduction for China's Rural Areas (2011-2020), leading to a drastic decline in the number of rural population living in poverty.
9. In the past four years, China helped 28 million university graduates find jobs. In 2012, 12.66 million urban jobs were created and 260 million rural migrant workers found jobs in cities. China established a minimum wage adjustment mechanism generally.

10. The ratio of government spending on education to GDP increased from 3.31 percent to 4.07 percent. Free nine-year compulsory education has been accessible throughout the country.
11. China has established a nationwide primary medical insurance system and over 1.3 billion people have joined various medical insurance schemes. The subsistence allowance program has basically covered all urban and rural areas.
12. From 2009 to 2012, the government set aside over 450 billion yuan in assistance funds to build government-subsidized urban apartments and renovate shanty areas.
13. China has made the reduction of major pollutants a mandatory target in economic and social development and taken steps to improve mechanisms, strengthen supervision and resolve outstanding environmental problems.
14. China encourages greater public involvement in the legislative process by publishing draft laws and holding hearings, discussions and forums.
15. Deputies to the people's congresses are to be elected based on the same population ratio in both urban and rural areas. Direct election is held for more than 98 percent of villagers' committees.
16. All 60 tasks of the judicial system reform have been completed. The Amendment VIII to the Criminal Law abolished death penalty for thirteen economic and non-violent crimes. The procedures for the review of death penalty and the system to exclude the use of illegal evidence were improved, the application of coercive measures were standardized.
17. China has taken concrete actions in protecting people's freedom of speech and freedom of religious belief in accordance with law. People can express views freely through microblogs, postings and other means. There are 5,500 religious organizations, 100 religious universities and 140,000 sites for religious activities.
18. China has put the Law Against Domestic Violence on its legislative agenda. Mechanisms designed to assist and guarantee the rights of orphans, children with disabilities and HIV/AIDS-affected children have been improved. Old-age insurance schemes had covered all rural areas and non-working urban residents.
19. Minority ethnic groups enjoy extensive human rights. Their freedom of religious belief and the right to use and develop their spoken and written languages are respected and guaranteed.
20. China is party to 26 international conventions and worked hard to implement them. Every year, China holds human rights dialogues or consultations with 20 countries. China has provided economic and technical assistance to other developing countries to help them realize their right to development.
21. China will increase its annual donation to OHCHR to 800,000 US dollars. It will receive the Working Group on the issue of discrimination against women in law and in practice and three other Special Procedures.
22. China faces difficulties and challenges in promoting and protecting human rights. Unbalanced, uncoordinated and unsustainable development remains an acute problem. Too many people still live under poverty. A balanced income distribution structure is yet to be put in place. Judicial injustice exists.
23. The Hong Kong SAR implemented Statutory Minimum Wage in 2011, and amended the Personal Data (Privacy) Ordinance in 2012. The methods of selecting the Chief Executive in 2017 and forming of the Legislative Council in 2016 should be strictly in accordance with the Basic Law and relevant interpretations and decisions of the Standing Committee of the National People's Congress. It will continue to enhance the protection of the rights of persons with disabilities, women and children, and provide support to individual groups such as people with ethnic minority background or different sexual orientation.

24. Macao SAR has continued expanding resources for the optimization of all policies and measures in the area of livelihood on the basis of their existing work. It will continue to promote the stable development of the whole economy and ensure that the lawful rights and interests of the residents are protected.
